MACSTAY ASKS FUND FOR ASH REMOVAL

Appeals to Aldermen for $270,-000 to Hire Motor Trucks for Work.

Recent anowstorms have hampered the Street Cleaning Department to such an extent that it will require 200 motor trucks for forty-five days to bring the department's ash removal schedule back normal in Manhattan, Brooklyn and The Bronx. The ashes and trash piled up along curbs and in the allers of the three boroughs amount to not less than 40,000 cubic yards.

That condition of affairs was disclosed officially yesterday when Arnold B. Mac-Stay, Commissioner of Street Cleaning, applied to the Board of Aldermen for an appropriation of $270,000 in special revenue bonds with which to hire the revenue bonds with which to ture the motor trucks for the work. The city has not the trucks. Because of the large number needed, Commissioner MacStay said, the estimate of the cost of their service is based upon $30 a day a truck instead of $25 paid hitherto. The fact that the request was referred to a committee to be taken up again at the next meeting of the board, a week hence, will not dainy the work of ash removal, the not delay the work of ash removal, the as master mind in plots. Commissioner said.

"The Street Cleaning Department has not progressed with the city in any re-spect since the administration of Col. Waring, many years ago," he said. "We have been unable to get appro-priations necessary for the installation modern equipment. Old ash carts, having a capacity of only about one and half cubic yards, still are being used eve ashes from large apartment houses having a large number of ash cans. Some of the ash dumps are held together by nothing less than the grace of God. They are failing to pisces.
"We could do wonderful work if we were equipped with the crude oil re-

movers like the one we have been ex-perimenting with, but we have neither those nor the other motorised equip-ment which even cities with problems of far less proportions than those of Commissioner MacStay that he has "fired" 400 snow shovellers for loafing on the job and has suspended twenty-seven Bronx drivers for refusing to shovel snow in Manhattan.

Two hundred emergency snow show-ellers refused to work in Brooklyn on the plea that they were receiving only 50 cents an hour, while shovellers in Manhattan received 80 cents.

Piling more trouble upon the already staggering street cleaners, another snowifall hopped into the city about midnight. The streets quickly were covered by the new mantle, which did its best to convey the impression it had every intention of remaining for quite a spell. As the tarly morning hours were along the snowfall gave no promise of ending.

At 3 o'clock Attorney Walker Got Major Dairymple on the long distance telephone, and the con-versation got exceedingly warm. It ended when Major Dalrymple banged the receiver on the hook, turned to the newspaper men present and said:

"When I place these officials under arrest I intend to take them to Grand Rapids by way of Chicago, and when they get to Grand Rapids I will have them tried in Judge Sessions's court, the United States District Court. I can get justice there. Everybody here in Northern Michigan seems to be against the United States Government, and I am not going to take any chances."

McDonough Telephones Warning. Just before the train pulled out Major Dairymple was called to the telephone. It was Prosecutor McDonough calling from Iron River. McDonough read what he purported to be a wire from Attorney-General Palmer calling the whole affair off, and Prosecutor McDonough told Major Dalrymple over the telephone that it would be useless for him to come to Iron River as his own backers were deserting him. Major Dalrymple was furious, and sent a wire to Prohibition Commissioner Kramer at Washington, which in sub-stance read: "Decent citizens of Northern Michigan are outraged at conduct of Prosecutor McDonough and his political cohorts. If we expect to enforce prohibition we must prosecute this case to the bitter end and recover the wine. for Arnstein, and Saul S. Myers, attorney for the National Surety Company, from continuing yesterday their plans for an immediate examination of Fannie Brice. They may apply to Federal Judge A. N. Hand for an order for such examination to-day. When they do so they also will ask permission to open safe deposit boxes rented by her. Moses H. Grossman, attorney for Miss Brice, said that she would be willing to on with this examination at any time. He criticised the manner in which his client's own accounts had been tied up by the receiver and said that if Miss Brice wanted to raise legal technicalities he believes she could free all of her property from the enjoining orders.

He said that if the receiver asserts that the contents of Fannie Brice's safe deposit vaults and her bank funds have been turned over to her by Arnstein, the burden of proof is on the receiver. It is not necessary, he stated, for his client to prove that the property in her posses-
